Michigan Senator Escapes Punishment For Buying Seat

(China Press Correspondence)

Washington, May 15.—Senator Truman B. Newbury of Michigan has been freed temporarily at least from a charge of using corrupt means in obtaining his seat in the United States senate. The United States Supreme Court has declined take cognizance of the Michigan laws governing primary elections, declaring that the United States Constitution does not contain any provision concerning primary elections which are matters solely within the jurisdiction of the states.

The decision, unless certain recommendations of the court are carried out, apparently opens the doors for corrupt practices by persons seeking election to the senate.

Newbury was indicted by a federal grand jury, the grand juries in the state refraining from action because Newbury was campaigning for a national office. He was convicted in the United States district court and the case was appealed. Newbury was the opponent of Henry Ford and his indictment and trial made one of the big political sensations of recent years. Testimony appeared to be conclusive to those who heard it as well as to the jury but it now appears the federal court was trying a case over which it had no jurisdiction.

Unless the case is referred to a state grand jury in Michigan and a trial conducted in a state court, Newbury is free. The United States Supreme court suggests, according to the reports, that the Constitution may be amended so as to recognise the state primaries in so far as they apply to the nomination of candidates for federal offices. This would not affect the present case however.

Many have asked whether those who managed the Newbury campaign knew that they were comparatively safe in view of the absence of all mention of primaries in the federal constitution. The offenses charged against Newbury were all alleged to have been committed in the primaries. It has been pointed out that there was no need of spending money in a general election as a nomination is considered the equivalent to an election so far as Newbury's party is concerned.

New York Traffic Police To Be Equipped With Signal Lights

A NEW signal device to be used by the night traffic policemen of New York City was demonstrated by Department Commissioner Dr. John A. Harriss, who originated the device. It consists of three lights, red, white and green, and is suspended upon the chest of the officer on top of a sort of apronlike jacket. The device is operated by tiny electric switches, one for each light, and is really a miniature model of the signal lights on the huge traffic towers erected on the busy main thoroughfares of the city. It performs the same duty while eliminating the necessity of erecting the signal tower. The photo shows an officer equipped with the device.

STUDENTS DENY PEKING HAS PAID THE TEACHERS

Arrears Not Made Up And No Guarantee Given For Future

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, June 11.—Students of Tsing Hua College have gone on strike as a means to support the Peking educational bodies in their contest against the Government. They have issued a call to the nation to take active and concrete measures against the government.

The report that the government has paid the teachers off in full is denied by the students and teachers alike and the latter believe that it was an endeavor on the part of Peking to mislead the public. They say that the Ministry of Education still owes four months of administrative expenses for the school and one and a half months salaries for the teachers. There is no guarantee for future educational expenses. The teachers and students have demanded to hold a specific revenue for the provision of educational work.

ADMIRAL SIMS IS CALLED HOME FOR ERIN SPEECH

U.S. Naval Officer Cables Chief He Was Misquoted In London

POLITICAL FARCE SEEN

Official Itinerary Called For His Departure From England Wednesday

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, June 11.—Admiral Sims's leave of absence in England was revoked today and he has been ordered to report immediately to the Secretary of the Navy.

New York, June 12.—Admiral Sims has sent a reply to the Secretary of the Navy contesting the accuracy of the cabled report of his much criticised speech regarding Sinn Fein propaganda in America and declaring that his statements were substantially the same as he had repeatedly made publicly in America.

London, June 12.—It is pointed out here that an exaggerated importance is not to be attached to the action of the American Secretary of the Navy in ordering Admiral Sims to report at Washington. This has somewhat the nature of a political farce in view of the fact that the Admiral's official itinerary, published some time ago, provided for his departure from England for America next Wednesday.

BUSINESS BODIES HERE DENOUNCE ANGLO-JAP PACT

Appeal Made To Legislatures To Fight Against Renewal Of Alliance

A strong protest against the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance has been lodged by 20 local organisations, headed by the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, with the foreign press and legislative bodies of the leading foreign powers.

Messages protesting the alliance were cabled to the Congress at Washington, the Assembly in Paris, the British Cabinet, and Parliaments in London, Rome, Ottawa, Melbourne and Calcutta as well as the leading British publications, The Times, The Manchester Guardian and the Daily Herald.

The direct appeal to the British Legislature is as follows:

"The Anglo-Japanese Alliance heretofore has weakened the Chinese esteem for British people owing to aggression of Japan attributed by all in the East as having risen from the pact. If renewed the feeling of Chinese citizens will certainly be aggravated reacting on the friendly feeling towards the British people which has a direct influence on trade. We are confident that in view of Chinese feeling in respect to the pact you will prompt your government to cease further efforts for its renewal."

The messages were signed by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the Silk Guild, Manchuria and Shantung Silk Association, Shantung Guild, Shanghai General Export Association, Shantung Honan Pongee Guild, Skin and Hide Guild, Nanking Provincial Association, Hupeh Provincial Association, Fur Guild, Wookiang Association, Egg Products Association, Shaoshing Association, Ningpo Provincial Association, Hupeh Guild, Hankow Cotton Merchants Association, Waste Silk Association, Tobacco Merchants Association and Cantonese Guild.

GEN. SMUTS SEES BIG OPPORTUNITY IN EMPIRE MEET

South African Leader Eager To Have Done With 'Drift' Policy

MARKETS, BIG PROBLEM

Conference Of Imperial Premiers Postponed Until June 20

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 11.—General Smuts, accompanied by two of his ministers, Sir Thomas Smartt and Colonel H. Mentz, arrived here today to attend the meetings of the Imperial Cabinet.

In the course of an interview with Reuter's representative, General Smuts said that it had been most inconvenient to himself and his colleagues to leave South Africa, where the Union Parliament was at present dealing with matters of the greatest importance. They only did so because of the importance they attached to the forthcoming discussions with their British colleagues; but other Dominions Prime Ministers were in much the same position, and he hoped that the sacrifice which the peoples of the various Dominions were making in sending their leaders to London would be justified by the results of their labors.

General Smuts did not doubt that the forthcoming meetings would have far-reaching importance. A stocktaking of the post-war situation affecting the British Commonwealth was imperative, as nothing could be more dangerous than uncertainty and vacillation amidst the perils of the present world situation.

Dealing with the present situation in South Africa, the Union Prime Minister said the searching test which had been applied to the people of that Dominion by the secession issue had only deepened their resolve to go forward as a united people, in comradeship with the other peoples of the British Commonwealth. Arising out of the defeat of the Secessionists at the last elections, a united party had been created, representing both white races, as the guardian of South Africa's national interests.

NEED FOR ACTION

These developments had a far-reaching Imperial significance. They clearly indicated the necessity for avoiding a policy of drift on the question of Dominion status, and the urgency for the earliest possible settlement of outstanding obscurities. The separatist movement had not been finally killed in South Africa, and was unlikely to remain confined to the Union, unless the rights of the Dominions to equal nationhood and statehood were recognised in the clearest constitutional form without delay.

Dealing with economic questions, General Smuts said the Union Government had singled out currency and banking reform as the keystone of their economic policy. South Africa's economic position was exceptionally healthy and strong. It had been a matter of satisfaction to the Union Government that their policy of a central bank and a gradual deflation of currency had been recommended to other countries by the Financial Committee of the League of Nations.

The problem which at present confronted the Union was to find markets for its raw products. Up to the present the British Home markets had been the Union's chief customer, but the present depression, and the unhappy unsettlements and dislocations of British industry were forcing the Union to look in other directions for markets.

He was bound to point out that foreign trade was a matter of exchange, and that indents from the Union would inevitably follow the export of its produce to foreign markets. It was a serious consideration for British industry, which he hoped would see a speedy return of normal conditions.

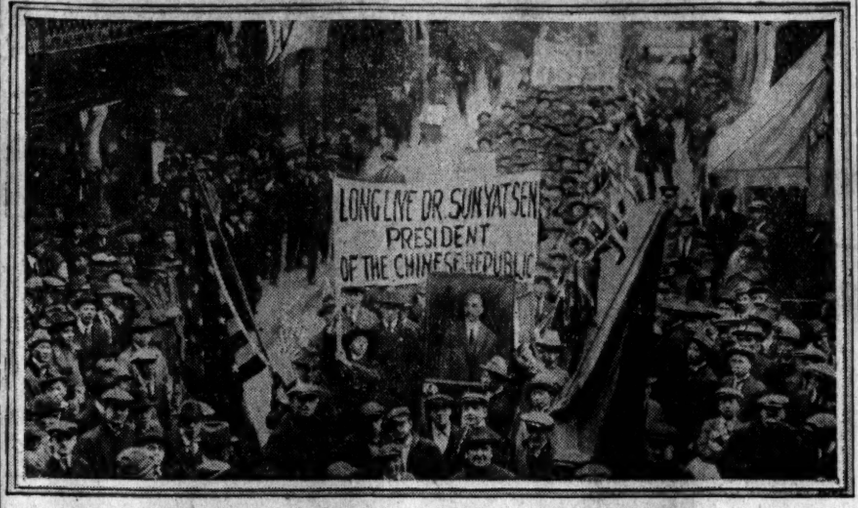
London, June 13.—The opening of the conference of Imperial Prime Ministers has been postponed until June 20.

Uncle Sam To Get Big Share Of Fight Receipts

(Reuter's Service)

New York, June 11.—The Inland Revenue officials calculate making $240,000 in income tax and $60,000 in amusement tax as a result of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight. Dempsey's share of the prize money is estimated at $225,000, of which over a half will go to the Treasury, while Carpentier's liability in income tax is estimated at $69,000.

New York's Chinese Parade In Honor Of Sun Yat Sen



CELEBRATING the election recently of Dr. Sun Yat-sen as President of the Republic of China, all of New York's Chinatown turned out for a parade. The marchers took a route leading through the streets of Chinatown and paraded to City Hall, where, after being reviewed, they disbanded. The sight was picturesque, the American flag predominating in the line, while the flag of the Chinese Republic was plentifully sprinkled through the throng. They were greeted by the city officials. A crowd of spectators looked on as the ceremony was held.

LOOTERS AGREE TO DISBAND; ARE TO RETAIN BOOTY

Hankow Quiet, But Chinese Seek To Transfer Goods To Concessions

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, June 12.—The situation in Wuchang and the native city here has been considerably ameliorated. The trouble with the troops is believed to have been satisfactorily settled. It is understood that the remainder of [illegible] agreed to disband on condition that they retain their arms and booty; and that small parties will be allowed to retain their arms until their arrival in the North, whither they are to be transported by train. It is also reported that they are receiving three months' pay gratuitously.

The vice-Minister of War and two other Governmental representatives have arrived in Wuchang for the purpose of investigating the situation there and holding discussions with the Tuchun regarding the restoration of order.

The cotton and other mills at Wuchang re-started work today. Hankow is quiet but some feeling of unrest prevails, though there have been no disturbances. Negotiations for the transfer of goods from the native city to the concessions are pending.

Six demands have been made on Peking by the residents of Ichang as a result of the recent mutiny. They are the dismissal of Wang Chan-yuan, the Tuchun of Hupeh; punishment of the commanding officers of the mutinous troops concerned in both this and the mutiny six months ago; the repatriation of all the units affected; the relief of the victims; the confiscation of the private property of Wang Chan-yuan which is estimated at $30,000,000 for indemnities and the organisation of volunteers to replace the troops within 20 li of Ichang, who shall not be allowed to come within the zone.

The Peking Government has agreed to act upon these demands when its special investigator, Ching Shao-tseng, Vice-Minister of War, returns to make his report.

The Hupeh residents in Shanghai on Sunday despatched a Telegram to Peking, demanding the dismissal of Wang Chan-yuan and his punishment for causing the mutinies in Ichang and Wuchang and the appointment of General Wu Pei-fu as Tuchun of Hupeh.

Estimates Increased Because Of Strike

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 11.—A supplementary Civil Service estimate of £15,260,710 includes £6,260,700 for expenses in connection with the establishment of food and general transport organisations resulting from the coal stoppage, of which £6,000,000 was for the purchase and importation of coal. It also includes £9,000,000 to meet the expenditure arising from the Government control of railways. The original estimate for the liquidation of railway agreements was £30,000,000 but an extra £9,000,000 are necessary to meet the deficiency in receipts of the railways, owing to the coal stoppage and trade depression.

Shanghai B'long City Of Twinkling, Tireless Toes

BY ELSIE McCORMICK

JUDGING from the amount of attention given to rhythm in the feet, Shanghai ought to be the most poetic city in the world. The only trouble is that the feet are not the kind you scan but the kind you step on, and the rhythm is concerned, not with the flow of words, but with the staccatto beat of heels on a hardwood floor. If there were only as many trained minds in the city as there are educated toes, Shanghai would make ancient Athens look like a North Dakota village listening to the [illegible] circuit.

It would take a combination of philosophers, anthropologists and psycho-analysts to discover just why Shanghai is never happy unless its feet are in motion. The fact remains, however, that staid married men who at home would spend their evenings pottering around the back yard until after dark and then devote themselves to reading automobile catalogues or playing a game of casino with the wife are as badly affected by the craze as youngsters whose dancing pumps are the most important part of their wardrobe.

Consider, too, the married woman whose best evening gown at home suggested the dress worn by the Greek professor's wife at a faculty reception. A few months in Shanghai, and she is stepping around the Carlton in a georgette crepe gown with the hem cut in points somewhere near the high altitude record and complaining when weary musicians begin to put overcoats on their implements.

THAT QUIET EVENIN'

At home in an average household a quiet evening is the normal course of events and a party, a cataclysm which involves trying on evening gowns which no longer fit, a frantic rush for appropriate slippers, and the application of dabs of gasoline to a spot on the dress suit where the ice-cream was spilled at the Elks' banquet.

In Shanghai, however, the conditions are exactly reversed. Here the party is the normal course of events and a quiet evening at home the jog out of the orbit.

Every night scores of people firmly resolve to stay in and get some rest. But when the lights begin to twinkle on the high towers and the nightly automobile procession of evening dress bowls its way along Nanking Road, the stay-at-home suddenly lowers his book and takes a furtive glance at the clock.

Then Mary Smith or Susie Jones, who had felt absolutely too tired to drag herself home from the office, confides to the mouth-piece of the telephone that she'd be simply delighted and will be ready in three-quarters of an hour.

A husband who at home always attended social functions with his ears laying back wonders casually what the people next door are doing that evening. Then also the wife who used to list dancing with cigarette smoking on her personal index, shakes out her tulle evening dress to see if that tear could be darned in case she wanted to wear it in a hurry.

FOUR HOURS LATER

At one o'clock in morning, Mary Smith, her escort, the husband, the wife, the family next door and several hundred duplicates of them are busily engaged trying to catapault their way through a human wall of dancers without fracturing any more ribs than seem strictly necessary.

In the pink shaded interiors of Shanghai's popular dancing resorts, tired lines about the eyes are mellowed by the soft glow and the all-night face becomes the complection of the girl just out of school. Here the grape-juice parties of impeccable youth take place within elbow reach of ladies whose reputations are as light as their gowns, and that part of the world upon which the rest does not [illegible] occupies floor space with the city's elect. Around each table, however, is an invisible line as impassible socially as a cement wall, which means that more physical proximity offers small opportunities for better acquaintance.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

Though the crowd ebbs and flows through the passing nights, there are certain specimens who are always on the floor. For instance, one never fails to see the married couple verging on middle age, who are having their first taste of the Shanghai atmosphere. They generally wear the evening clothes of several years ago and they jog through the dance in a way which proves that their last appearance in a ball-room was contemporary with the schottische. On their faces, however, is the fixed, fatuous smile of the small boy with jam on his chin—a smile which tells the onlooker that the Shanghai dance trap has caught two more unwary nibblers.

Then there is always the young lady who is smoking a cigarette for the first time, and who takes her initial puff with a squeal and a giggle. Later in the evening, however, she holds the weed with the professional grace of an Italian countess and flicks off the ashes expertly with her little finger. In some cases, however, this first lesson occurs as frequently as most young ladies' twentieth birthday. There is one bright flapper who learned five times to our knowledge in one month, tutored by five different instructors.

Neither is any evening complete without the young man just out from home who is apparently wearing a dinner jacket for the first time and who spends most of his energy fingering collar and studs and trying to catch a glimpse of himself in the mirror. Speaking of mirrors likewise calls to mind the girl in a new dress who insists on whirling her partner, round and round the pillars set with looking glasses, without regard to the fox-trot traffic regulations or other people's physical geography.

On the floor too is usually the youth who hangs far over his partner's shoulder, and keeps an eye on her heels, apparently to make sure that they stay off his pumps. Occasionally one sees the couple trying to shimmy, with the man lifting his shoulders like a French waiter unable to account for an overcharge on the bill.

AND THE GOWNS

The gowns range from simple white affairs that suggest graduation frocks to shimmery, snaky draperies such as might have been worn by an Elinor Glyn heroine when the misled young man decided to commit suicide at

SENATOR TO PRESS FOR TRIAL OF EX-KAISER

Member Of French Upper House To Quiz Government

ECHOES OF 1914

Cambon, Envoy To Berlin, Shows That "Germany Knew"

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 12.—M. Duplantier, member of the Senate, has informed M. Briand, as Foreign Minister, that he intends to interpellate the Government regarding the measures it intends to take to ensure the execution of the clauses of the Treaty of Versailles relative to the trial of the ex-Kaiser.

Paris, June 12.—The Figaro publishes a description by M. Jules Cambon, who was French Ambassador to Germany prior to the outbreak of the war, of the events during the week preceding the war. M. Cambon says that he noticed first of all that the German Imperial Chancellor, Dr. von Bethman-Hollweg, with whom he was on very intimate terms, ceased seeing him, no doubt in order to avoid an awkward discussion of the thorny question of the day. M. Cambon adopted the attitude of doing nothing that would be likely to cast doubt on France's desire for peace.

SEES VON JAGOW

Three days after the despatch of the ultimatum to Servia, M. Cambon had a long interview with Herr von Jagow, the then Foreign Minister, to whom he pointed out the mistake Germany was making by trying to provoke war. On the evening of July 29 the German General Staff held a meeting at which mobilisatie was discussed. On July 31 Herr von Jagow informed M. Cambon that in view of the Russian mobilisation Germany had decided to declare "a state of danger of war." From that moment, the German authorities delayed or withheld the telegraphic despatches addressed to M. Cambon.

Paris, June 11.—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies met yesterday. The Chairman, fresh from an interview with M. Briand, gave a detailed account of the present situation in Upper Silesia. He further stated that negotiations with the Turkish Nationalist Government, at Angora, were proceeding. The French Government, he added, would never allow itself to be dragged into military operations on behalf of the Greeks.

M. Souler, deputy for Paris, who attended the recent Beirut Fair, reported to the Committee that all was quiet in Syria. Development work on a large scale had been commenced under the aegis of the French High Commissioner for Syria, General Gouraud, and the inhabitants were setting to work again, after the hard trials of the war. In this connection, M. Souler urged the necessity of "sparing these brave people further worries, such as the fear that France might some day be led to forsake them. On the contrary," declared the Deputy, "France is determined to help them and to organise an administration which will facilitate the uplift and development of the country." M. Souler referred in terms of special praise to the roads in Syria, which, he said were excellent.

FATE OF "BERTHAS"

Berlin, June 11.—It is semi-officially announced that in its reply to a Note from the Inter-Allied Control Commission regarding the location of German long-range guns during the war, the German Government states that of the seven guns constructed, four were destroyed before November 1918, and the balance scrapped during 1919.

Paris, June 8.—The newspapers here express satisfaction at the joint action of the French and British Ambassadors in Berlin in insisting on the German Government's compelling the German troops in Upper Silesia to respect the decisions of the Inter-Allied Commission.

Paris, June 7.—Reports which have been unofficially circulated in France and England as to a possible Anglo-French Alliance are widely and favorably commented upon by the French press.

Paris, June 12.—Advices from Oppeln state that agreement has been reached in regard to the measures to be taken to restore order in Upper Silesia. These measures are in accordance with the plan recommended by the Conference of Ambassadors and include the establishment of an intermediary zone and the gradual disarmament of the two opposing parties.

The Inter-Allied Commission has received fresh assurances that the Poles are prepared to obey the instructions of the Commission and it is hoped therefore that the restoration of peace has really begun.

Paris, June 12.—The President of the Aeronautic League, General Bailaud, in the course of a lecture at the Sorbonne on aviation and the disarmament of Germany, said that Germany's commercial air fleet could at a few days' notice be converted into a military arm.

In order to deal with this peril, the General urged, it was the duty of the Allies, relying on the Treaty of Versailles, to regulate the manufacture of German commercial aeroplanes so that they could not be used as engines of war.

AMERICAN SAILOR DROWNED HERE IS BURIED AT HOME

California Newspapers Tell Of Funeral There Of Harry Robertson

Newspapers received from the United States in the last mail carry reports of the funeral at Riverside, California, on April 23 of Harry G. Robertson, American seaman on the U.S.S. Villalobos, who lost his life in September last year in making an effort to save a shipmate who had fallen into the Whangpoo.

At the time of the drowning the youth's body was not recovered and it was subsequently found and identified through an unusual chain of circumstances last February when it was sent to the boy's home at Riverside by the naval authorities. Following the drowning American consular authorities learned that the body of a man had been found in the Whangpoo near Woosung by a Chinese. It was learned that it had been buried near Woosung. An investigation and an examination of the exhumed body at that time failed to reveal the victim's identity or his nationality and the body was again buried near Woosung.

Notice of the drowning had been sent to the boy's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Robertson by the Navy department and she enlisted the aid of Mr. K. H. Wood, who was then about to sail for Shanghai, in an effort to find the boy's body. On his arrival in Shanghai Mr. Wood discovered as the only clew in the search he had undertaken the unidentified body at Woosung. He obtained from the navy department a complete description of young Robertson from the youth's enlistment record. The body buried at Woosung again was exhumed and with the description that had been supplied, particularly that of the teeth, it was possible to identify beyond all doubt the body as that of young Robertson. The remains were then shipped back to America on the transport Thomas. A report of the funeral that was published at Riverside on April 24 the day after the funeral is as follows:

Harry Guilliam Roberston who gave his life in China while attempting to save a shipmate from drowning, was buried in Evergreen cemetery yesterday afternoon with impressive ceremonies in charge of the American Legion.

Open air services were held in the grounds of his home, 191 Penrose avenue. Mrs. W. L. Black, at the request of the boy's mother, preached the funeral sermon, and her husband, Rev. Black of the Seventh Day Adventist church offered prayer.

At the cemetery the Legion had charge of the services. The firing squad was made up of Comrades Knox, Thompson, White and Haglund, with Sergeant Roblee Richmond in charge. All were former soldiers. The pallbearers, all sailors, were: Carl Christensen, Clarence Tabler, R. J. Richardson, and two sailors from Ontario. Bugler Gardenhire from March field sounded taps.

Robertson lost his life while a member of the crew of the U.S.S. Villalobos which at the time was at Shanghai, China.

Pan Fu, Vice-Minister Of Finance

PAN FU

A Presidential Mandate under date of June 11 appointed Pan Fu, the vice-minister of Finance, to take full charge of the affairs of the ministry as the result of the reluctance of the new Minister, Li Shih-wei, to assume his office.

Mr. Pan hails from Tsining, Shantung and began his political career as secretary of Chen Hsieh-lou, former Tutuh of Kiangsu. He served as Industrial Commissioner of his own province following the establishment of the Republic and organised the first exhibition of Shantung products for the Panama Exposition. His connection with the present premier began when the latter was Tutuh of Shantung.

His great achievement was the scheme of the renovation of the Grand Canal, for which the Government entered into a contract with Messrs. Siems Carey Company, which was to furnish funds for a loan to the Government and undertake the engineering work. Pan also became director of the Water Conservation Bureau.

Mixed Court Jottings

An inquest was held yesterday over the body of a Chinese woman named Sung Loh-sz, 35 years old, who was struck by a motor on Bubbling Well Road, near Mohawk Road, Sunday evening and died while on the way to hospital. The car is owned by Mr. Kenneth C. Chao, 52 Rue Massenet, and evidence of witnesses indicated that the woman backed into its path while attempting to avoid another machine and that the chauffeur was not to blame. The Assessor, in giving the verdict, suggested that compensation of $100 be paid the woman's family. Mr. Zia, representing the car owner, said that he was willing to give $200.

An ex-soldier appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday on the charge of participating in an armed robbery committed near Pingliang Road on February 7. The case was remanded. Others concerned in the robbery already have been sentenced.

Since he first appeared in court a week ago eight additional larceny charges had been laid against a defendant who appeared for sentence yesterday. His taste evidently ran largely to beds and brass kettles, but in one instance he stole an organ. He was sentenced to four years' imprisonment, to be followed by expulsion from the Settlement.

her feet." The really startling dresses are usually kept in reserve for Saturday night, which is also the evening when the largest number of bachelor tables are observable around the side-lines.

The dance craze seems so firmly grounded in Shanghai that it is hard to realise that only three years ago, the entire dancing space in the Carlton consisted only of the southern room where the orchestra is now placed. At that time the Parisien ballroom was unbuilt, and the patrons danced sedately between the tables in the main dining-room.

Tea dances at the Astor House formerly took place only once a week. Later the demand caused them to be introduced twice a week and soon they were taking place every day except Saturday and Sunday, with a dinner dance in the ball-room practically every night.

Revolutions may rise and break, exchange may go up or down, and the Far East may tie itself into a dozen diplomatic knots, but throughout it all, Shanghai continues to whirl like a dancing dervish under the pink-shaded lights of its crowded cafes.

Change In Rates Is Announced At U. S. Post Office

Postal Union rates hereafter will apply to all mail matter sent through the American Post Office at Shanghai to foreign countries, according to an announcement made yesterday by Mr. E. H. Everett, American Postmaster, who said he had received instructions on the subject from the Postal Department at Washington.

By reason of the new ruling the rate of two-cents gold for letters mailed at the American Postoffice will apply only to those sent to the United States or to American possessions. Heretofore the rate for letters to Mexico, Cuba and Panama has been the domestic rate of two cents, but in future it will be five cents, the postal union rate.

While recent treaties made by the United States with South American countries provide that domestic postal rates shall apply between the countries named in the treaties, these agreements will not apply in Shanghai and mail matter addressed to South American countries will have to carry foreign postal rates.

France To Send Mission To Canada

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 12.—The Franco-American Committee has decided to send a mission to Canada to express France's gratitude for Canada's intervention during the war. The mission will be headed by Marshal Fayolle, who will cross the Atlantic in the new liner Paris, launched at Havre today. The Paris is 234 meters long, has a displacement of 36,000 tons and boasts of as many as nine decks. She is fitted with all the latest devices for making ocean travel comfortable.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

According to recent States papers the latest and most popular method of hurdling the Volstead Act is to walk into your favorite grocery store and call in a certain tone of voice for eggs. The smiling groceryman then inquires which chicken is your favorite author and you nominate the red leghorn, the barred cochin, the white orpington, or whichever brand of poultry your knowledge of natural history or recollection of the code dictates. All that then remains, after you have paid an Alaska price for your half-dozen, is to find a secluded spot, remove the white sealing-wax plug from the corner of the egg and decant the bourbon, rye of gin, or whatever style of liquor your sort of chicken lays, into your system. Sucking eggs, while rurally looked down upon, has never been listed as an offense on the statute books so even if a policeman saw you tilting one you were safe. The game has been more or less crippled now owing to publicity attending the case of an impatient omelet-hound who inhaled the contents of three turkey egg wrappers while on the way home and then fell down in front of a prohibition enforcement officer with the other dozen and three-quarters.

The above is pertinent to this story only in that it would seem to indicate that Ling Ah-nyi has been reading the American journals and struck upon inspiration for an Oriental version of the egg trick.

Sikh Police Constable No. 444 was on duty at the Chingwangtao Road jetty Sunday when a sampan drew up the wharf and Ling disembarked, bearing a large sack. Ling no sooner observed the policeman than he did a right about face and the Sikh was so curious about this sudden change of plan that he went after the departing one and collared him. What was in the bag he wanted to know. "Why," replied Ling in tones of mild surprise, "nothing but peanuts." The Sikh had a look into the sack, and sure enough it was filled with peanuts. But there was a certain illegitimate odor about them and the Sikh plucked out a handful and cracked one or two. Then he took a firm grip on the sack with one hand and a firmer grip of Ling's collar with the other and started for the station. On the way Ling thrust a hand into his pocket and produced $7 and tried to open negotiations for his ransom.

Exhaustive examination of the peanuts at the station revealed the fact that each had been opened, the kernels extracted and a capacity load of high-power opium substituted, after which the shells had been carefully fitted together again. The lot assayed four pounds of the drug.

Ling told the Court yesterday that he had been most shamefully imposed upon by a kind faced stranger whom he had met on board a ship. The stranger had asked him to take the bag ashore for him and, supposing it to contain nothing but authentic peanuts, he had done so, just to be obliging. Ling's little adventure in accommodation cost him $200 and the Court congratulated S.P.C. 444 on accomplishing a smart bit of work.

LADIVOSTOK IN ESPAIR, ASSERTS ECENT VISITOR

ople Have Little Faith In Regime Recently Established

The people of Vladivostok and stern ... in view with black- despa... the establishment of new "Temporary Primorskai vernment," set up after the up of May 26, according to a an who has just arrived in anghai from the Northern port. ld barely possible that 50 per- nt of the people of Vladivostok ll lend their support to the new gime, this observer thinks, but these there are scarcely any o have confidence in the gov- nment and fears of the worst ranging through a long list of ils and culminating with pre- tions of more war—are freely pressed.

There is no hesitation among reigners and Russians in de- ring the coup to have been pported if not actually arrang- by the Japanese, according to is witness. Foreigners tell of ing Japanese soldiers furnish- ammunition to the Kappelist d Semenoff troops who rushed e government buildings and ere are evidences that arms re stored at prearranged points d were secured by the attack- after the outbreak started.

SEE DOUBLE GAME

There are also strong evidences, states, that the Japanese are aying a double game, with the w administration and with ita, presumably with the idea working through the demands rmulated at the recent Provin- l conference at Tokio as a sis for evacuation and of im- essing the outside world with pan's "neutral" attitude in heria.

Indications of this are seen in e Japanese insistence upon the lease of the former government ads, including the chief Chita presentative, Antonov, the For- gn Minister, Zeitlin, and Mayor osmenski, who were taken un- r Japanese escort to Harbin ter they had been released om jail and were sent on to ita.

Semenoff has not yet officially nounced his presence in Vladi- stok, the traveler stated, but mains on board the Japanese ip which brought him from rt Arthur and which is now chored under the bows of a panese battleship, in a spot ver used as anchorage by any her steamer coming into the rbor. He is held to be in close uch with the situation and it is mored that he is to be given e title of commander-in-chief the new government's army, ough the opinion is expressed at he will not be content with a st so modest.

There is wide criticism, even mong the government's ad- erents, of the action which aced Merkouloff at the head of e administration, people of both les agreeing that his character es not fit him for the post.

WO YEARS' WORK WASTED

The general feeling is that the tuation now is practically iden- al with that of the Rosanoff re- me of two years ago and that l effort to establish normal nditions since then has been erely wasted. The Far Eastern overnment was coming more rongly into favor, the narrator id, and was giving indications a pleasing liberal administra- on which bade fair, if it could ve gained any outside support, rebuild Siberian prosperity. s a result of the coup and the rowing out of their jobs of all nnected with the various gov- rnmental institutions, such as e railway, great numbers of eople are out of employment nd face to face with starvation. It is reported in Vladivostok hat the Chita government has lled on Soviet Russia to come it assistance with troops to mbat the monarchist party now power on the coast and one of e latest reports even had it at 40,000 men were being sent Harborovsk with the idea of campaign directed against the hole region.

The narrator was in the midst the activities of the 26th. The appelists had come on from ikolsk, he said, and many of em and also many Semenoff ldiers "drifted into" the town armed. The Kappelists were a iserable lot, dressed in tattered niforms of a wide variety of esign. The fighting started at out 10 a.m., breaking out all er the town practically simul- neously, as if by careful pre- rrangement, and the attacks ntered upon the various gov- rnment buildings and institu- ons, including the navy yard. orkmen at the latter place how- er produced arms which they d concealed and drove off sev- al barge loads of Kappelists ho tried to take the place.

GOT ARMS IN BANK

The eye-witness happened to in a restaurant across the street from the government bank, in which the government's funds were supposed to be kept. A party of the attackers driven from the navy yard ran up the street and into the bank. Most of them were unarmed when they entered but they emerged almost immediately carrying rifles and ammunition. Similar occurrences were reported at other points. The militia made a sturdy stand against the attackers, killing quite a number, but their total strength was only 200—200 having been despatched to Nikolsk the day previous owing to the trouble there. The remnant of the defenders retreated to the outskirts, where they were found by the Japanese when the latter began disarming the fighters. The Japanese promised them protection. They had lost their leader, but they replied that they did not trust the Japanese and were certain that they would only be murdered if they returned. Without arms or supplies they left Vladivostok, headed toward Harborovsk.

"If anything has made the Chita government Red," declared this informant last night, "it is this latest duplicity of the Japanese. Chita has now lost all faith in other nations. Previously it was ready to treat with any of them, even to humble itself to the Japanese, but it will trust no one."

BOULON TO TAKE STAND AGAINST OLD EMPLOYERS

Ex-manager To Testify For Chinese Who Is Suing For G.$180,000

Ferdinand G. Boulon, former manager of the Shanghai branch of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, will testify next Monday afternoon as a principal witness for the plaintiff in the case of Say Yuen Hong versus the G.W.W. Co., which is set for hearing some time next month.

Permission for Boulon to give testimony against his former employing firm before the trial of the case, grew out of an application presented by Mr. H. D. Rodger of the firm of Rodger and Haskell for the plaintiff, that such testimony be allowed. The grounds given were that Mr. Boulon leaves for America June 25, and that his testimony would not be available unless taken prior to that date.

The claim of the plaintiff set forth that it had deposited G.$180,000 in a local bank in favor of the G.W.W. to protect and guarantee its handling of an exclusive agency for the sale of a certain brand of indigo.

Four causes for the action were given that G.W.W. had shipped dyes which had not been contracted for, that other shipments had not been delivered at the times contracted for, that all of the kegs of indigo were 8.15 percent light-weight, and that none of them were in accordance with the samples upon which the agency agreement was founded. The total sum petitioned, as damages and losses, is Taels 296,143.

Mr. Sterling Fessenden, who appeared for G.W.W., raised no objection to taking Boulon's testimony before the hearing of the action.

Only Two Saved Of Greek Ship's Crew

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, June 11.—The doubts of the owners of the Greek liner Bouboulina which struck a mine and foundered as to the extent of the disaster are confirmed by a message from Smyrna to the effect that only two out of the crew of twenty-five have been saved. No mention is made of the passengers.

Note.—It was reported yesterday that the Greek Battleship Lemnos had saved two out of the 240 passengers which the Bouboulina was carrying.

Athens, June 12.—It is now stated that the Greek steamer Bouboulina, which struck a mine in the Mediterranean last week and foundered, had been requisitioned by the Greek Government and that the only passengers were five Greek soldiers. Eight members of the crew were saved.

Note.—It was previously reported that the Bouboulina was carrying 240 passengers.

Envoy From France Arrives In Angora

Quelch Testifies In Liquor Suit

One side of the suit of Garner, Quelch and Company versus P. S. Crawley, involving the recovery of shipments of wines Shanghai to Harbin in the latter months of 1920, or damages in the sum of their value, together with costs, etc., totalling more than $11,000 was heard in the United States Court for China yesterday afternoon, before Judge C. S. Lobingier.

Mr. Harry Quelch, of the plaintiff firm testified that his firm had shipped hundreds of cases of champagne and other wines to Crawley at Harbin covered by bills of lading with drafts attached. The wines totalled over $14,000 in value.

Crawley had obtained possession of the shipments without honoring the drafts, and only small payments, not exceeding $2,800 had been made on the consignments, Mr. Quelch testified. Payment in full could not be obtained.

Upon learning that Mr. Crawley contemplated leaving Harbin for America, two employes of the firm were sent to Harbin to take possession of the goods. Crawley had left before their arrival, and only Yen 5,000 worth of the liquors was located. A balance of $8,400 remains unpaid on the shipments; $1,800 in addition is asked to defray the cost of the trip to Harbin, and other costs of the action are prayed for.

Mr. H. D. Rodgers, conducting the case for the plaintiff, presented much documentary evidence to prove the shipments and the receipt therefore. Mr. Sterling Fessenden, who appeared for the defense on request of Mr. Paul M. Linebarger, advised that he was instructed not to defend the action, but to allow the Court to decide the merits of the petition on the evidence offered by the plaintiff.

Judgment was reserved.

HONGKEW PARK SHOOTING CASE COMES TO TRIAL

Five Students Caught Spreading Anarchist Literature Appear In Court

The trial was begun yesterday in the Mixed Court, before Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Kwan, of the five young students charged in connection with the shooting episode and distribution of anarchistic literature at Hongkew Park on June 4, the last day of the Olympic Games. A sixth defendant, arrested subsequently at an address in Frenchtown, was dismissed, the police having no evidence against him.

An amendment to the attempted murder charge lodged against the youth who fired the pistol was made yesterday when he was charged with firing at a boy scout named Tsang Hyuin-fong. The original charge was that of the attempted murder of Park-keeper R. R. Crooks. All five are charged with distributing revolutionary literature with intent to overthrow the government.

Detective Sergeant Ross outlined the case and the boy scout was then called. He stated that he had seen a man distributing leaflets and had reported it to the scout master. Together they returned and the man started to run away. The witness said that he then called upon a scout bugler to sound the call for assistance and that the man pointed the pistol in his direction and fired two or three shots.

In reply to the Assessor the witness stated that he could not be sure the defendant had tried to shoot him. He thought that the defendant only wanted to escape.

Dr. Morris, of St. Luke's Hospital, who captured the youth with the pistol, testified that he was sure only one shot was fired at the scout and told of following the accused and grappling with him after the cartridges in the weapon had been exhausted. Mr. Crooks testified that the student had fired once at him. He was certain that the pistol was aimed at him, for the reason that he was in uniform. Sub-Inspector T. McKenna told of capturing one of the students who was distributing leaflets and further police evidence was brought concerning half-a-dozen banners bearing the inscriptions "anarchism," "communism," etc.

Detective Sub-Inspector Sullivan, who has been conducting the inquiry into the case, stated that the first, second and third accused came to Shanghai about two months ago from a college in Chungking and had been living at 152 Rue Wagner. The fourth lived in Avenue Joffre and the fifth at the Esperanto School in North Szechuen Road. Large quantities of violently anarchistic literature had been found in the lodgings. It had been impossible to get any sort of reliable statement out of the accused, the witness stated, but the police were of opinion that someone had given the leaflets to the students for distribution. If they were found guilty he would ask that they be expelled from the Settlement and handed over to the Military Governor.

The first accused, who calls himself Tsang Ching-kuh, said that he came to Shanghai on February 27 from the Normal School in Chungking and that his home is in Canton. He had been distributing "secrets" in Hongkew Park on the date of the shooting. The pistol, he said, had been given by his father to his mother nearly ten years ago and he had come into possession of it.

This the Assessor characterised as a lie, as the weapon and cartridges are quite new.

Accused said that he had fired the pistol because he was frightened and that he had no intention of hitting anyone. He ran simply because he was frightened. He said that he did not know where the leaflets were printed and that he was distributing them for "friendship's sake." He denied all knowledge of the banners and denied also that he belonged to any communistic society or that he knew what communism means.

A huge quantity of leaflets and pamphlets were introduced as evidence.

The hearing was adjourned until next Monday.

Dairymen Are Fined For Extracting Fat From Product Sold

One Robs Customers Of 73 Percent Of Cream

Two licensed dairymen were fined in the Mixed Court yesterday by Mr. Backburn, the British assessor and magistrate Kwan.

The first case was the Yue Chong Dairy, Carter Road and evidence was given by Inspector Prideaux, of the Health Department, that he took a bottle of milk from one of the distributors of this dairy on the morning of June 4. It was analysed at the Municipal Laboratory, and he handed in a report showing that 73.3 percent of the cream had been abstracted from the sample. A mechanical milk separator had been used to remove such a large proportion of the cream.

Inspector Prideaux said he took this bottle of milk from a consignment of ten bottles which were being delivered to a large establishment. A bottle of cream was also being supplied. If eleven bottles of good milk had been supplied all the cream in the separate bottle would have been contained in the milk. From this one customer alone an improper profit was made of about a dollar a day. It was a good illustration of the large profits which could be made by dairymen.

A previous conviction for adding water to milk was registered against defendant, and the Court inflicted the maximum penalty of one hundred dollars fine.

The second case was that of the Hop Shing Dairy, Yu Yuen Road.

Inspector Prideaux stated that 26.6 percent of the cream had been removed from a specimen of defendant's milk which he had taken on June 2. He put in a report from the Municipal Laboratory in proof of this.

There were no previous convictions against this dairyman, and the Court imposed a fine of fifty dollars.

JAPAN MUST GET COACHES FOR FUTURE OLYMPIC TEAMS IF FILIPINOS ARE TO BE BEATEN

Far Eastern Championships Show Value Of Foreign Coaching; China's Outlook Hopeless Without School System

FROM Tokio to Zamboanga the ever-doping writer of sport news, whether he be on the provincial weekly or the bigger daily, is figuring how and why Filipino baseball players, swimmers and track men defeated the Japanese. It was the first victory of Filipino swimmers over those from Japan in the decade of history of Far Eastern Olympics. And the final event, the relay race, was won by a touch. The Filipino had tapped the edge of the tank but an instant before the Japanese touch came.

Japanese newspapers, particularly those in Osaka where the baseball team is very popular, cannot yet understand why one of the best Japanese baseball teams was beaten by the Filipinos. And Japan confidently expected to win the track and field meet.

Writers rave about Japan's triumphs being due to their necessary fight for existence on "the rugged islands that make up the Japanese Empire." One "expert" on Far Eastern athletics regards China's victories in football, basketball and volleyball as being due to the development of the "family system, so uppermost in China's life."

Beautiful, but hardly practical.

FOREIGN INFLUENCE

China won the basketball because the Chinese played closer to the rules than the Filipinos. There was little to choose between the teams. Lucky long shots might turn the tide either way. Centuries of development of close family ties are inspiring but at the same time those Chinese forwards could shoot.

As for China's victory in football. British coaching was the element that made possible the championship. For years the Cantonese have played in Hongkong and the game is developed there much further than in the North where the lines are closer drawn. Men like Leslie and Clifford are doing much for North China football and they, not family system, will be the men who are responsible if North China ever takes the palm from Southern Chinese, trained for years by British.

Individual inaptitude is given by at least four writers as the cause of Filipino victories. "They are much quicker, are lighter and are more on edge—thus they are admirably fitted for the individual events."

Absolute piffle. The writer has known Filipinos who were and probably are yet the most intensive sleepers in the world and could make a fight for a title as the "laziest individual in Manila" until they dragged themselves into baseball uniforms or track suits.

And it might be remembered that Chu En-te and Tu Jung-fang will go down in Far Eastern athletic history as great individual athletes.

COMPETENT COACHING

The success of the Filipino athletes in track and field, baseball, swimming and in any other sport can only be attributed to the American system of coaching, without question the most effective in the world.

Fortunato Catalon and Charlie Paddock are both products of this system. Kaga and Hiraoka of Japan, every bit as fast as Catalon are not. Abierra, a seven stride hurdler; Bucoy, Fernandez or any of the other Filipino timber toppers is not the finished performer that Watanabe of Japan is. Alo's leap of 11 feet, 6 3-4 inches in the pole vault, Santos' jump of 22 feet and 2 inches in the broad are due in the main to excellent coaching.

The 1921 Olympics should teach Japan a lesson. With efficient coaching Okazaki can go a mile in 4:25 and Kaga or Hiraoka will hold his own with Catalon. Watanabe will beat any hurdler in the Far East.

SWIMMING TITLE

Here is how Japan lost the swimming and how the Philippine Islands won it though the Japanese were faster in the water. The good coach knows that the pickup man of a relay team does not start his work until his toes leave the takeoff. In other words the number two man may start his dive early, timing it so his toes leave as the number one man's fingers touch the edge of the tank.

The Japanese did not start the dive until the touch was made. The Filipinos won by the scantiest of margins and this was what won the relay and the meet. It was coaching.

The Filipinos won a ball game in the mud because they used the well known noodle. Mud and rain

SAYS "BUGS" Baer: CORRESPONDENT BELITTLE GINK

Claim That He Was A Red And Black Flush In The Ring

BY "BUGS" BAER

Sports Editor: Gink Fowler couldn't have been a ticket taker on the nights that Bearcat Andrews dusted his opponents off. Bearcat fought around the time that the Indians were playing merry-go-round with Custer. He was in that battle and asked for the brass ring so he could take another whirl with the tomahawks. He never got his name in the records because he was so modest that he never left his fingerprints on the handle of the bank vault. He's been dead fifty years, but the epitaph on his tombstone would make Gink Fowler curl up like the toes on a two-dollar pair of shoes.

Yours outside the three-mile limit,

THE MYSTERIOUS TWINS.

Mister: Don't overlook Lemon Eyed Pete, who fought around Kansas in the early twenties. Lemon Eyed once fought 20,000 Mexicans at Chapultepec during the Mex War. He used the famous La Blanche swing. Spinning like a top, he worked his way right through the Mex army, knocking them six ways from Sunday. He won the war double-handed. Out of gratitude, Congress didn't fine him for losing a leg on the last day. He was voted the free franking privilege for his laundry, which is the highest tribute that Congress can give a man who hasn't any. Lemon Eyed would have cleaned Gink Fowler with both hands in one glove.

K. E. MACKENZIE.

Dear Sir: Kid Canarsie took the cast-iron wristwatch. He was harder than homemade biscuits. He won the shortweight title from Slippery Ellum after 43 stanzas of terrific running. He fought a downhill battle and passed Ellum going out of the exit. He retired from the ring, but kept right on fighting. He got married. I write this because I want the world to know that Gink Fowler was not the only superman of the prize ring.

CHARLES H. SPLITDORF.

Dear Ed: Unfortunately, I happened to be present the night Gink Fowler and Hap Hazard fought that memorable frolic in Over Hall, Canada. Over Hall was crowded that night with striking laborers from the bunion factory. Gink was eight pounds overweight, but he got a shave and went into the ring eleven pounds under the mark. What a sight these two noble men were as they crouched in the middle of the fling nervously twitching the superb muscles of their ears! The first round was Hap's. He set them up for everybody in the house. The second round was Gink's but he didn't pay for it. The barkeep still has the check. The third round was ginger ale. This round as Hap's.

He took all the remaining fifty-six rounds easily, Gink making no effort to jab a check with his left. The referee could do nothing but award the fight to Gink as he had sixty-two cigars in his vest and all the rounds were on Hap.

That was a battle for your life.

PITTSBURG POST REPORTS FIGHT BY RADIO PHONE

Details Of Ray-Dundee Scrap Sent Through Air By Wireless Telephone

Unique in the annals of journalism and newspaper enterprise was the achievement recently of the Pittsburgh Post which reported by wireless telephone the fight of Johnny Ray, of Pittsburgh, and Johnny Dundee, of New York, lightweights. Instantaneous news service of the fight, round by round and blow by blow was given by the Post reporter at the ringside, enabling the paper to have an extra on the streets a few minutes after the last gong sounded.

Reports from all over the country indicate that wireless telephone operators were treated to the action of the ring battle with all the realism of each blow and each bit of ring strategy enacted the instant it occurred.

An Associated Press dispatch from Hartford, Conn., stated that the Dundee-Ray boxing match was "heard" in Hartfold. "A wireless telephone bought the sounds of the conflict, the clang of the gong and the shouts of the fans to a group of wireless enthusiasts assembled at a private radio station," the dispatch said. Hiram Percy Maxim, the wireless expert was present.

Teaching science may become a sporting proposition if a new method of scientific education in the Junior high schools advocated by Professor Lyman C. Newell, head of the chemistry department of Boston University, is universally adopted. Hockey, skiing, sailing, and other sports are used as the basis for teaching scientific principles.

"Every boy knows he can't skate with dull skates, but he doesn't know much about the laws of friction," says Professor Newell. "Practically every scientific principle can be connected up with the daily interests of the twelve to fourteen year old boy. Sports, fire engines, electric cars, a burning building, his telephone, and his wireless apparatus may all be used as illustrations of the practical working of the laws worked out of science.

"Meet the boy in his own world and introduce him to the larger world of science. Instead of blaming him for going to the movies, teach him about the lenses, images, sources of light and a hundred other things that make motion photography possible. On a rainy day, teach him why it rains. Take advantage of a thunder storm to tell him of static electriality. Don't stop with mere information. Go on to the scientific principle involved."

The same idea may be carried through from spring to winter, according to Professor Newell. A list of one hundred topics dealing with the boy's natural interests in sports and everyday happenings has been prepared by him and is to be tried out by the classes in "The Teaching of General Science in the Junior High School" which is being conducted at Boston University.

AUSTRALIANS FAR AHEAD IN SECOND CONTEST

England Retired In First Inning For 173; Bowling Is Fast

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 11.—Lord's Cricket Ground was this morning besieged by crowds unequalled in the history of cricket. The public gates were closed before play commenced in the second test match, and thousands of would-be spectators were turned away. Among those who struggled for admission before the arrival of the King at noon were Mr. and Mrs. Asquith and the Australian Prime Minister, Mr. Hughes. It was with the utmost difficulty that the police made way for the royal car.

An hour and a-half after the commencement of play, ticket-holders were still lined up waiting to crush through the narrow "reserved" gate, while hundreds without tickets stood outside the other gates awaiting the chance of a vacant seat later in the day. The total attendance is computed to have been 27,000.

Three changes were made in the English eleven originally chosen, N. Haig (Middlesex), Major Hon. L. H. Tennyson (Hampshire), and Dipper (Gloucestershire) replacing Mead, Hearne and C. B. Fry. Ryder, Oldfield, Mayne and Collins stood out of the Australian side.

England's score for the first innings was 173.

The weather was brilliant and the wicket in perfect condition, so that England had everything in their favor when, on Douglas winning the toss, they went in to bat. An enterprising start was made, and 20 runs were on the board after the first 20 minutes' play. Then disaster set in, and three wickets were down with the total only 25. Douglas and Woolley then came together and made a determined stand. The end of the first hour's play saw only 35 runs scored, but the partnership lasted an hour and three-quarters, and yielded a valuable 83.

Douglas's departure was the beginning of a procession, Woolley being the only exception to the succession of failures. He went in at the fall of the first wicket, and was last man out, with 95 to his credit, his hits including 10 fours. Douglas's 34 was the next highest score.

Armstrong's bowling kept the batsmen puzzled, and he had the following extraordinary analysis:

Overs.	Maidens.	Runs.	Wickets.
18	12	9	1

Mailey took four wickets for 55, Macdonald four for 58, and Gregory one for 51. The Australian fielding was very keen. The innings lasted three hours 38 minutes.

The Australians, on going in, found little difficulty in dealing with the bowling, and scored freely, despite seven bowling changes. The best performance was that of Bardsley, who put on 88. The total at the close of play was 191 for three wickets.

GREAT BRITAIN AND AMERICA MEET AT CLAY PIGEON SHOOT ON NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOO

Five Yankee Members To Compete With Crack British Team; Match Causes Interest; 188 Shoot At Club When Algar Breaks 33

GREAT Britain and America will fight for honors at the Shanghai Clay Pigeon Club next Sunday and the match is exciting much discussion among the members of the popular organisation.

It is a coincidence that the five men who will shoot for the U.S.A. comprise the total Yankee membership of the Clay Pigeon Club, and incidentally they are not the worst shots. The competition will probably be for 40 or 50 birds.

Great Britain will be represented by Algar, who broke 33 Sunday, Gande, who took the 20 bird sweep on Sunday with 20 straight; Nazer, Read and Moller. The Americans are Gibson, Doremus, Hendricksen, Himrod and Hexamer.

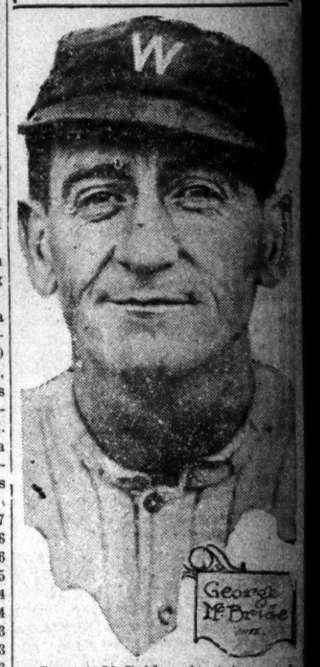
The Club was very popular on Sunday afternoon, 188 turning out to take a crack at the birds.

A Cup kindly presented by a non-shooting member was competed for, the conditions being 40 birds from the "leggett" trap, two barrels permitted for 30 birds and only one barrel for the remaining ten birds.—Mr. A. E. Algar who broke 33 and had a handicap of 4 birds won the Competition. The following scores were made:

Algar	33 plus 4	—37
Gibson	36 scratch	—36
Beatty	31 plus 5	—36
Hexamer	35 scratch	—35
Nazer	34 scratch	—34
Hendrickson	30 plus 4	—34
Read	33 scratch	—33
Monro-Home	24 plus 9	—33
Tuxford	24 plus 9	—33
Himrod	28 plus 4	—32
Gande	32 scratch	—32
Moller	32 scratch	—32
Dell'Oro	22 plus 9	—31
Morriss	26 plus 5	—31
Wienberg	22 plus 9	—31
McEuen	24 plus 4	—28
Barrett	23 plus 4	—27
McBain	22 plus 5	—27

A sweep followed which was competed for by three teams of six a side, which was won by Gibson's team with 92 birds broken out of 120, Hexamer's team being second with one bird less.

Senators New Manager Criticised For Forfeiting Game With Giants



George McBride, shortstop and manager of the Washington Senators, who started his managerial career with a mess of trouble. McBride was severely criticised for having forfeited a game to the Giants at Jackson, Tenn., while on the Spring training tour. He objected to a decision rendered by Umpire Bill Brennan and was ordered off the field. Brennan giving the Senators five minutes to continue the game. McBride refused to allow his team to play out the game and Brennan then forfeited the game to the Giants. The game ended in the second half of the third inning and the fans were given their money back. It is said the forfeited game will prove costly to the Senators, the Giants having filed claim for $1,200, their share of the gate receipts.

BANDITS NEAR HARBIN HOLD UP RIVER STEAMERS

Gunboats Useless, As Raiders Recognise Them And Flee

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Harbin, June 12.—The Hunghutzes have reappeared on the Sungari and have been very active during the past week between Chiamossu and Harbin. Two Chinese steamers crossing the Sansing Shallows have been attacked, one passenger being killed and three wounded; the steamer Amur narrowly escaped being captured whilst moored to the river bank, and another steamer was heavily fired upon above Sansing, with the result that several passengers were wounded, including two members of the Chinese Customs. Hardly a steamer arrives at Harbin that does not report some casualties amongst the passengers. The Hunghutzes are also busy plundering junks along the river, and what is still more serious is their attempt to block the channel of the Sansing Shallows by means of a captured junk.

It is stated that the conduct of the soldiers posted at various points along the river is as unruly as that of the bandits. At Hsientien after a brawl with some sailors on board the steamer Port Arthur, soldiers fired upon the steamer, killing a Chinese passenger outright. The gunboats that are supposed to patrol the river are useless, for they can be easily identified from a long distance and the Hunghutzes are well mounted and immediately disappear into the interior on sighting their approach. The military authorities at Harbin appear to be powerless to deal with the Hunghutzes and unless something is done quickly and intelligently navigation on the Sungari will have to come to a standstill. Even short trips out of the town along the river have become dangerous as a gang of Hunghutzes is posted on one of the islands situated not further than ten miles from the town. This gang has occupied the island for a considerable time and nothing has as yet been done to disperse it.

The Siberia Maru sailed from Hongkong at noon on Sunday and is due off Woosung about 8 o'clock this evening. The tender from the ship is expected to arrive about 11 o'clock tomorrow morning and the outbound tender will be dispatched at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The incoming tender from the Monteagle is expected to arrive about 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The outbound tender with passengers and hand baggage only will be dispatched to the Monteagle at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Credits Bill Goes To Second Reading

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 9: (delayed).—The Exports Credits Bill was read a second time in the House of Commons yesterday. Sir Philip Lloyd-Graeme, Director of Overseas Trade, explained that the Bill gave the Board of Trade power to extend the original Act to the British Empire and British Mandated Territories, though at present the scheme would not be extended to India or British possessions in the Far East.

(Note: The Bill, which was introduced in the House of Commons on May 27, renders the £26,000,000 already authorised for the grant of credits to foreign countries available for guaranteeing drafts against shipments to all parts of the British Empire, except India and British possessions in the Far East).

Waring Company Returns Next Week To Lyceum Theater

Shanghai theater-goers will hear with interest that the Waring Company, which recently completed a highly successful engagement at the Lyceum theater, is to play a return engagement at the Lyceum next week beginning on Saturday. Charles Quartermaine should be especially good in the character of Svengali and in the part of Trilby Miss Sherwin will have a wholly congenial role.

Among other successes to be repeated will be 'Romeo and Juliet.' On Wednesday evening a triple bill of one act plays will be given and it is understood that Mr. Waring intends to stage Israel Zangwill's delightful comedy, 'Merely Mary Ann' toward the end of the week.

Coaches Needed By Jap Athletes

are probably two of the three elements that the Filipino baseball player hates most. Cold is the third. Yet they didn't throw over the first baseman's head and didn't hurry their pegs. Had the Japanese third sacker figured that he had more time, that the Filipino base runner was ploughing through heavy mud and getting a slow start, the Japanese hot corner man would not have thrown the ball into the bleachers thrice. He scooped the pill and let it go as fast as he could.

But the Filipino infielders made sure that they had firm grip on the ball and then threw low, taking a chance on bouncing it across the diamond rather than allow it to nestle in the bleachers. The Filipinos were coached to do this.

CHINA'S PROBLEM

As far as the track meet was concerned it was truly a triumph for the American coaching system. Ordinary material was developed into a championship aggregation. Three years ago Alo was vaulting 10 feet. An American college pole vaulter worked with him. In another year Alo will go 12 feet.

Knowledge of starting, ability to use their hands, feet, bodies and heads as well as their feet, made possible the Filipino track victory. Even the shot putters, slight and light though they were, tossed the iron ball with form that added inches. Filipinos will never make distance men because they are not endowed with stamina. But Japanese will make sprinters and hurdlers and jumpers if competent coaches are put in charge of the team early in the season.

To solve China's athletic problem will take more than coaches. The elementary setting up exercise and the dub game must be brought to this country before China is swept by a country-wide athletic movement which will result in China's athletes beating the Far East. Outside the confines of a few missionary schools or one or two military camps organised play and athletics are not for the Chinese.

The movement must originate with an educational system similar to that in the Philippines where play is compulsory, or comparable to that in Japan where athletics is regarded as a subject which is necessary for graduation from primary, middle or high schools.

And Japanese swimmers, had they been taught the finer points, would have had the swimming meet without trouble.

The Japanese baseball team was every bit as good as the Filipino nine, but the players did not know the inside baseball nor were they as crafty as the lads from Manila. Japanese baseball is being developed by Japanese. It should be a long time before they are able to defeat the Filipinos on inside baseball.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paragoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have frequently prescribed Castoria for common ailments of children with good results."
W. A. CRANDALL, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I find your Castoria is very beneficial in the treatment of children's ailments."
F. DAVIS, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine and, aside from my own family experience, I have, in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."
WM. J. MCGRANN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I object to what are called patent medicines, where the maker alone knows what stuff is put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use in proper cases. I judge it to be a very useful, as well as harmless family medicine."
N. B. SIZER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

UNGERN PLANS CHITA ATTACK, MESSAGES SHOW

Early Predictions As To His Intentions Are Borne Out

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, June 10.—Early predictions as to Baron Ungern's purpose in seizing Urga and other cities in Northern Mongolia are now borne out by dispatches reaching Peking from several points in Northeast China and from Siberia.

The Vladivostok Government having been overthrown with one day of rather listless fighting, the Far Eastern Republic is now said to be singled out for the next attack. The Chita Government on the other hand is said to welcome a real brush with Ungern, having had ample time to prepare.

Ungern is already over the line into the territory of the Far Eastern Republic according to common reports in Harbin which were brought to Peking by Mr. L. D. Henry of the Chinese Postal service. Mr. Henry said all evidence seemed to prove that Ungern had crossed over and that his troops are following. Many Russian reactionary officers were in Harbin when he was there, he said, and it seemed that the maneuvers are being directed from that point. Mr. Henry stopped in Vladivostok and Harbin on his return from a business trip to Japan.

Joining of the Ungern and Semenoff forces with the secret approval and aid of Japan, is the plan of the reactionaries according to other Harbin dispatches which tell of the arrest of a Russian officer by the Chinese police there.

PAPERS TAKEN

Papers taken from this officer showed that Ungern and Semenoff are to amalgamate the forces that have been recruited for them along the border and are to strike against Chita at once. Some of the papers taken from the officers told of grain and other supplies to be shipped to Heilungkiang and Manchuli under the protection of certain Japanese. The report also said that the Japanese would send a competent officer to the North to aid in the expedition.

Kiahkta is to be the base of operations with Urga and its environs forming a secondary base according to the reports.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Harbin, June 12.—According to advices from Habarovsk and Blagoveschensk a state of siege has been proclaimed here by the authorities. Small insurrections amongst the troops of the garrison have been suppressed, but the situation is most uncertain, and a fresh outbreak may be expected at any moment, the reports state.

Chita, June 6.—The Far Eastern Republic, in an editorial on the Vladivostok affair, comments as follows:

"The power at Vladivostok is usurped by the agents of Japan, although the latter is loudly telling the world that she is observing neutrality.

FAKE NEUTRALITY

"The price of this 'neutrality' is something that is known only to Russians. The foreign representatives at Vladivostok know full well the illegal acts and crying violation of the rights of Russian citizens committed by the unwelcome 'preserver of order.' We doubt not that Japan will be called upon, sooner or later, to give an account of her criminal acts in our territory and that the bill which she will be forced to pay can hardly be much less than that which Germany is facing now. For the time being Japan has a free hand. How long this will last we do not know. One thing we do know, and that is, that the Russian people will never forget their indebtedness to the 'friendly services' of their neighbor in the dark hour of their history."

Vladivostok, June 13.—Anti-Bolshevik formations have destroyed many railway bridges between Blagoveshtchensk and Habarovsk and traffic has ceased.

Communist gunboats on the Amur River bombarded the villages of Konstantinovka and Kuprianovka, which are siding with the insurgents.

The negotiations between Ataman Semenoff and the temporary government have been broken off and trouble is expected. A Cossack conference which was held on the 10th instant passed resolutions requesting their Ataman, Semenoff, temporarily to leave the Maritime Province in the interests of the national welfare and urging all Cossack formations to submit to the authority of the temporary government.

Arrivals from Kamchatka report that the population is sick of Communism. In Petropavlovsk the Commissar, Maloveshkin, was half-killed by workmen at a meeting.

American Girl Off To Rebuild Ruined French Town

Miss Belle Skinner

MISS Belle Skinner, of New York, who recently sailed for France to supervise the reconstruction of the ruined French town of Hatton-chapel. The work, Miss Skinner says, will take about two years. Miss Skinner was recently made a member of the French Legion of Honor for her war relief work. It is said that her brother, William Skinner, wealthy silk merchant, will finance the rebuilding of the town.

UNITY IN ITALY ESTABLISHED BY PREMIER'S SKILL

Ovation For King Seen As Proof Of People's Loyalty

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 12.—Commenting on the opening sitting of the Italian Parliment, the Gaulois emphasises the ovations with which the King was greeted and sees in them the proof of Italy's persistant loyalty to the Throne despite the social crisis through which she has just passed. The paper adds: "Italy now seems safe from future social convulsions. Moreover, Signor Giolitti's experience and skill as a political tactician are well-known. No one understands better than he how to solve parliamentary difficulties. It is therefore probable that he will succeed in retaining the reins of power."

Westinghouse
ELECTRICAL APPARATUS FOR EVERY PURPOSE

This trade mark is the guarantee of dependable electrical equipment.

This space will show weekly a new aspect of one of the great industrial institutions of the world.

Where the Light Comes From

A modern miracle! One after another a million points of light spring into being until the whole city is radiant with an illumination second only to that of the sun itself.

From the bulb of the lamp back to the original source of power there is no machine that does not owe something of its past development and present perfection to Westinghouse Electric.

For Westinghouse Electric makes the transforming apparatus by which the electric current is raised to the tremendous voltage—which is necessary for its transmission over great distances, and reduced again to the low voltage at which it is translated into light.

It makes the great generators in the Central Station in which the current had its birth.

It makes the marvelously efficient steam turbines that drive its generators.

It makes the automatic stokers, feeding coal under the boilers that save human labor and assure better combustion

Every step of the long evolution—stoker, turbine, generator, alternating current, and transformer—represents a distinct Westinghouse contribution to the great result—light in a dark house for the greatest possible number of people at the lowest possible cost.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

June 13, 1921

Spot and forward bar silver were each up 1/4d. in London on Saturday.

The New York price advanced to 59½ cents and the London-New York cross rate is 374.

The official sterling rate today was raised 1d. to 3/4, the Gold Dollar rate to 62¼, the Franc rate to 790, the Rupee rate to 254 and the Yen rate dropped to 76.

The market throughout the day was very firm particularly in the forenoon when at one time there were very keen sellers of Sterling at 3/7 for practically all deliveries and of Gold Dollars at 67¼.

In the afternoon rates eased off slightly and a fair amount of business in Sterling was done at 3/6¾ and in Gold Dollars between 66¾ and 67.

The market closed firm with sellers at about these rates. India and China are reported to have bought silver in London on Saturday and in view of our strong market here today it is quite likely that further purchases will be made on China account.

Reports were received here today that the monsoon has broken in India and while prospects appear favorable it is too soon to say how it will ultimately develop.

A good monsoon, of course, would mean purchases of silver by India.

The silver market, at the moment, however, appears quite steady and while the Continent may come in as a seller at any time such offering, unless unusually heavy, are likely to be absorbed by India and China.

Chita's Ultimatum To Japan

THE note of the Government of the Far Eastern Republic, addressed to Japan last week, throws a great deal of light on the events in Vladivostok which led up to, and culminated in, the overthrow of the Government there on May 26. For this note shows that the relations between Japan and the Far Eastern Republic up to the moment of the trouble were strained and unfriendly.

The Japanese Government had declared that it could negotiate only with the Constituent Assembly. It had sent a mission, headed by Major Mike, to Chita, whose only aim was to secure political and economical information. This mission did not enter into any negotiations with the Constituent Assembly or with the Chita Government.

After the coup d'etat in Vladivostok, which was accomplished by the Kappel and Semenoff troops, it became clear that the Japanese Command there was by no means neutral, though it had repeatedly declared that it was, and had always been, neutral. On the contrary, it gave full support to Merkouloff's Government.

If the Japanese Government had really wanted to start negotiations with the Chita Government, it could have done so long ago, but it is now evident to any observer that the Japanese were bent on quite another course. They desire to remain in occupation in Siberia. They do not wish to remove their troops, and on this account they wish to enter into negotiations with the party most likely to grant them what they desire, that is, a trade and industrial agreement on favorable terms, and incidentally, they wish to obtain a slice of Russian soil. They, therefore as a means to this end, installed the Merkouloff Government, for, aside from being politically friendly with this group, the Japanese Command can now ask even more by reason of deserving their gratitude for support during the last coup.

People conversant with affairs in the Far East will remember very well the declarations of the Governments of the United States, England, France, and Japan which were issued in Vladivostok in August, 1918. In these documents the above Governments declared that they would withdraw their forces from Siberia as soon as the evacuation of the Czecho-Slovak troops was effected. All of these Governments kept their promises except Japan. Not only did Japan refuse to withdraw her troops. Up to date she has put about 100,000 soldiers in Siberia, instead of the 7,000 she sent in at the beginning of the occupation. None of the other Governments interfered in the slightest with Russian affairs during the time they were in Russia, but the Japanese have interfered largely—even to the extent of burning Russian villages, etc.

In Mr. Yourin's note there is pointed out the fact that foreigners simply passing through the country cannot avoid seeing the result of this interference, as is evidenced by the statement made to him by one of the members of the American Mission now in Chita headed by Mr. Abbott, to the effect that "disorder in the Far Eastern Republic is evident only where there are Japanese troops and where there are no Japanese troops one feels as safe as in America."

This declaration is made in the light of first hand knowledge gained by the member of the mission who made the statement, while traveling in Siberia. The mission made the journey through the regions in which the Japanese and Semenoff troops were operating. It proceeded as far as Habarovsk, 600 miles north of Vladivostok, and from this point went on to Chita.

Truly the Russian people of the Far East have fallen on hard days when Japan can give authority to Merkouloff, and occupy the Maritime Province.

Meanwhile, the Chita Government has sent a note to the American and English Governments (the note was handed to the American and British Ministers in Peking) in which the Government of the Far Eastern Republic asks the Americans and British to prevail upon Japan to withdraw her troops from the Russian Far East.

Japan should do this if she desires to be honest and to keep her promise to the other nations, according to the original agreement of August, 1918.

If she does not do this, if the troops are not withdrawn, then all responsibility for any adverse consequences must rest upon the Japanese Government.

Flag Day, 1921

(Note: June 14 is Flag Day in the United States)

The flag! O leaping heart, behold it there,
How fair, how fair!
In sacred light, it seems that every hue
Is dyed anew;
The white, made luminous in fires of pain;
The living crimson flushed from every vein
That spilled in sacrifice, while love kept true
The consecrated blue!

Yet will they fade, if nobleness decrease
In years of peace.
God give the promise of our stars of hope
A wider scope!
He wrought their sign that all the world might see
The strength that lies in selfless unity;
The yielded power of equal state to state
Is what has made us great.

He wrought their sign, a symbol understood
Of brotherhood.
To us the burdened cry in bitter need;
The helpless plead.
O Banner of our Love! If we betray
The honor of our awful trust, today,
Not anarchy itself can wrong thee worse,
Or bring a surer curse!

O Flower of Time, unfolding with the years!
High truth endears
Thy sacred symbol to the wise, and yet—
Wild hearts forget.
Thy foes that menace are the foes of Law;
And while, God reigning, still we hold in awe
His righteous precepts, we will hold thee high,
And live for thee, or die!

GRACE AGNES TIMMERMAN.

THE HICKSON MISSION OF HEALING

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: I have waited a few weeks before writing to you on the subject of Mr. J. M. Hickson's Mission of Healing. Mr. Hickson held services at Shanghai from May 9 to 14. He afterwards visited Hangchow, Shaoshing, Yuyao, Tzeki and Ningpo. I was in close touch with his work throughout, often kneeling with him in prayer in church or chapel and by the bedside as he laid hands upon the sick. I have tried not only to use the faith I had in Christ as the Divine Healer, but also to exercise a discriminating judgment as to results.

I have now no hesitation in saying that great results have been achieved, both spiritual and physical. Many of us felt that we had never been so near to the days of our Lord upon earth as when hundreds of suffering people came, in a spirit of prayer and expectancy, the heathen also with marked reverence, and kneeled together to be prayed for and blessed. The results everywhere have been such as greatly to increase faith in Christ's power and love.

Physically there have been a large number of cures: we are hearing of them constantly, but I am anxious not to publish results too soon. I am, however, already quite convinced that many of the cures are not to be accounted for or any theory of "suggestion." This plays its part, as in all hope-inspiring medical practice, but it cannot account for some of the things I have seen.

When in Shanghai lately I visited two cases with this theory specially in view. One was that of a middle aged man who came to Mr. Hickson in the Cathedral suffering from a stiff leg after a long period in hospital, where he nearly lost his life. It was a serious case of blood poisoning from an accident, and the skill of doctors and nurses had pulled him through. He was still attending as an outpatient for massage and movements and was making slow progress. After the laying on of hands he at once began to improve rapidly, and when I saw him he was walking about the garden, and able almost perfectly to bend and extend his leg. The second was the case of an old man recovering from a serious paralytic stroke. Mr. Hickson visited him twice and he has since made very marked improvement and can walk about unaided. Both these men are devout Christians and attribute their rapid progress to divine blessing. They continue their ordinary treatment. I am sorry I had no time to see other cases in Shanghai.

Here in Ningpo an invalid lady next door to us, whom I have often visited, and who has been bedridden for over three years, is now convalescent, getting up daily and walking from room to room. She was just pining away before Mr. Hickson's visit, though she was in constant expectation of divine healing, which she had experienced once before: now she is on the road to recovery. Other cases of bad sight, headache, indigestion, and mental depression have been cured. Of course in such cases mental suggestion may play a part. But I think too that God has touched them. And anyhow we should thank God for a ministry that can produce such results, and so speedily.

We are now only beginning to receive reports in a tabulated form in answer to our enquiries. I have before me a report, with names and particulars, of 13 persons benefitted at the small town of Tzeki where Mr. Hickson held one service in our little church. The cases are as follows: asthma 2, blindness 1, carbuncle 1, cough 1, pain (from an old broken arm) 1, paralysis 1, dysentery 1, indigestion 2, weakness 1, weak eyes 1, weak legs 1. The results are as follows: cures 7, improvement 6. The most remarkable cases among these are, (1) that of an old man with dysentery for a year, now completely cured, (2) that of the painful, formerly broken, arm, now quite well, and (3) the carbuncle, old wound healing up, fresh carbuncle gone and pain cured. There are other cases in that place improving slowly but not yet worthy of report.

This is one of our smaller places: the larger ones have not yet reported fully to me.

People who believe that something positive has happened will want to investigate further—and our records and services are entirely at the disposal of any sympathetic scientific man—and will ask "is Mr. Hickson a natural reservoir of health or a channel of Divine healing?" I have myself asked this question again and again. If the former, then we have found one of the most remarkable helps to suffering humanity; a man may be a source of health which can be tapped by a touch. If that is the true explanation we can thank God indeed, for 1,000 of suffering people have been touched by this one man, and a considerable proportion of these have at once begun to throw off all manner of complaints: surely there may be many such men: we ought to seek them out and use their gift reverently and thankfully.

But Mr. Hickson believes that he is simply a channel, kept by prayer and faith, by which the Divine Life touches our poor human frame. Having prayed beside the sick with Mr. Hickson, having heard his fervent prayers and seen results beyond expectation, this is also my opinion. We are therefore seeking to continue this ministry of prayer for the sick, in private and public. There will be a service of prayer for the sick, with the laying on of hands for those who wish it at Holy Trinity Cathedral on June 29, St. Peter's day, at 5:30 p.m. Those who wish to offer thanks for recovery, or to have special prayer made for them at that service, should communicate with the Rev. C. E. Spencer.

Before closing I should like to mention the case of a leper at Hangchow. It was widely reported that he had been healed, but this is not true. He has been a leper for over 20 years and is in an advanced stage of the disease. He feels better and some of the distressing symptoms have disappeared, but a doctor who has since examined him finds him still a leper. We intend to watch his case.

I am, dear Sir, yours very faithfully,
HERBERT J. MOLONY,
Bishop.

THE FIGHT FOR THE ASHES

England made a sorry showing in its first innings against the Australians in the Test Match that began last Saturday.

Armstrong put down 18 overs, and only had nine runs knocked off him.

It was evidently not of him that Swinburne wrote:

"The batsman at sight of him tingles,
And changes, 'mid joyous applause,
The lilies and langours of singles
For the frolic and frenzy of fours."

CRICKET

There's a glorious game
That brings some of us fame,
And our U.S.A. friends cannot stick it;
To them it is tame,
But we'll give it a name—
It's cricket, yes, glorious cricket.

* * *

It's a game where the best,
Sometimes take a long rest,
It is not understood by the alien,
But it must be confessed
When it comes to the Test
We don't shine against the Australian.

For a Grace we may sigh
To come back and try
To collar again those dear Ashes,
But it most makes me cry
When we resurrect Fry
To save the Old Country from crashes.

BUT THAT REMINDS ME

That grand old sportsman A. P. Wood is being entertained today by the St. George's Society prior to his departure for the Motherland. Let us hope he will be there in time to see Yorkshire do what England evidently cannot do so far.

A. P. stands for all that is best in cricket, and it is men like him who have made the phrase "Play Cricket" the pass word for clean sport.

So here's to A. P.
And long may he be
Spared healthy, to stand at the wicket,
For there's one thing that we
Know's an abso: certee:
That A.P. will always "Play Cricket."

WHAT IS IN A NAME?

Messrs. Kelly and Walsh are advertising:

"The Story of the Nations Series."

The Story of Ireland I note is written by one eclypt Lawless. It should be a fine account of the little island that sends its sons to most parts of the world to keep the peace.

NO POLITICIAN

When Mr. Austen Chamberlain, the present leader of the Conservative party in the House of Commons, was a young man fresh from college he was approached by his old nurse who, after enquiring as to his health and welfare, asked him what vocation in life he intended taking up.

"Oh," replied the future leader of the Unionist party, "I'm going in for politics."

"For politics!" was the exclamation of the old lady. "Oh, Mr. Austen, your father and Mr. Richard, were enough to have in politics. Why don't you go in for something useful?"

WHICH MAKES ALL THE DIFFERENCE

About the best Trade Union story going is being told about the men of an aircraft firm which took up motorbody work, and recently went back to aeroplanes again owing to the revival of aircraft orders. When it took on motor work it had to bring in a number of coachbuilders, who insisted that aeroplane hands must not do coach-work, and so the aircraft workers had to leave. Now the aeroplane hands are at work again they insist on the coach-workers being sacked, and the other day one of the men's leaders, discussing the matter with the manager, explained that they had to get their own back off the coachbuilders. So the manager asked: "But, then, why do you let Smithers remain? He's a coachbuilder." To which the aircraft worker replied: "Ah! He's a different case. We want him for the cricket team."

Men Work Best When They Are Happiest

(American Business Methods. By Floyd W. Parsons. G. P. Putnam's Sons)

Mr. Parsons is a diagnostician who keeps his fingers close to the pulse of industry, and so he has much knowledge at his fingertips. He was the founder of and first editor of the Coal Age, and now he edits a department in the Saturday Evening Post. The complete title of this vade-mecum is "American Business Methods for Increasing Production and Reducing Cost in Factory, Store and Office." He has taken the whole world of business for his province and discourses on everything from broad general principles to the most infinitesimal minutiae of office etiquette in a style which is one-fourth "Poor Richard," one-third popular editorial writer and the rest Floyd W. Parsons.

His philosophy is summed up when he says, "Men work best when they are happiest. If this is true it follows that the carrying-out of plans looking toward the establishment of healthful surroundings and harmonious relations in all lines of business must result in increased efficiency and maximum production. Health in relation to industry is receiving more serious attention as time goes on."

As a true disciple of the hustling West, Mr. Parsons puts his faith in the power of initiative and invention. He says, "The average man uses only a small fraction, a third to a tenth of his inherent brain power. Why? Because original thought is lacking and that is the only kind that really builds the cells of the brain. No man can really challenge the world's attention unless he has a new idea. Money may be the measure of what people want, but they have to be shown before they know what they want. They did not know that they wanted the telephone, the telegraph, sewing machine or automobile until certain wise leaders foresaw the demand and prepared to meet it. . . Always it has happened that when humanity has lost its grip and appeared to be floundering in despair, invention has bobbed up and pointed the way to shore. We may kneel and implore the politicians to give us salvation in the form of laws; we may hire able economists to refine and perfect our national monetary system, and we may burn the midnight oil in our efforts to smooth and improve industrial relations, but the problem of high wages, increased production, reduced hours and labor shortage will still remain for the inventor and the engineer to solve with machines which in the coming years will do everything but think."

Mr. Parsons reflects one of our salient national traits in his attitude toward caution. He says, "It is all very well to be cautious, but we should never forget that the power to decide promptly is a greater asset than ability to think exhaustively. The man who decides quickly will sometimes make mistakes, but he will learn more from his experiences than the slow and timid man will ever learn from his days of thought."

Chang's Soldiers To Dig Own Wells

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 11.—The Ministry of War has purchased twenty drills for sinking wells at Tientsin at the request of the Supply Service of the Mukden Command. The drills are needed for the Mongolian Expedition, as in the desert the troops will have to rely on a water-supply from wells of their own digging.

Peking, June 12.—According to semi-official telegrams from Mukden a military conference is to be held there today to discuss measures connected with the forthcoming expedition to Outer Monogolia. The following northern leaders have already reached Mukden to participate in the conference: Generals Tang Yu-lin, Kan Chow-hsi (Commandant of the troops on the Mongolian frontier), Hsi Chin-chun (Commandant of the 27th Division), Wu Chun-sheng (Tuchun of Heilungkiang) and Sun Lieh-chun (Tuchun of Kirin).

General Chang Ching-huai will leave Peking for Kalgan to take over his duties as Commander-in-Chief of the expedition as soon as further instructions are received from General Chang Tso-lin.

Colonel Li Yu-lin and Major Shang Ho, who were sent to Suaiyuan last week to investigate supplies, have returned to Peking. They report that sufficient supplies have reached Suaiyuan but that more motor cars are needed.

The Tibetan and Mongolian Affairs Bureau recently reported to the Government the arrival of many destitute Mongols who had been forced to flee from their homes owing to their loyalty to China. Arrangements have since been made by the Government for a relief fund for these Mongols and for the appointment of a commission to inquire into their losses.

Italian Immigrants May Not Be Deported

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, June 11.—The difficulty with which the immigration officials are confronted in connection with the arrival at Boston on June 7 of a thousand Italian immigrants aboard the steamer Canopic after the new restriction, prohibiting the landing of more than three hundred immigrants per month at any one port had come into operation, will be solved if a suggestion upon which the Immigration Committee of the House of Representatives has reported favorably is approved by the House itself. This proposal is to permit the landing of all immigrants who had embarked for America before June 8. It is pointed out that it would not affect the total of the authorised increases in the course of the year.

Murdered Shopmen Given Impressive Funeral Procession

Thousands Participate In Ceremony For Victims Of Recent Shooting

A funeral procession for the two victims of the recent North Szechuen Road shooting affray took place on Sunday afternoon, several thousand Chinese participating, while many Chinese shops flew the national colors at half mast as a mark of regret for the deaths of the two shopmen.

Eight mounted police led the cortege, which included four bands. Pictures of the two victims, the clothes worn by them at the time of death, over 300 different wreaths, scrolls and inscribed curtains were carried in the procession and the two coffins, which were placed on a motor truck were blanketed with flowers.

The mourners included representatives of the Amalgamated Street Unions, Wing On Company, various Chinese schools, Nanyang Brothers Tobacco Company, Commercial Federation of the French Concession, the Canton Guild, the Cantonese Importers' Society, the Overseas Chinese Association, the Piece Goods Guild, the Coal Merchants' Guild, the Ningpo Association, and other organisations—64 in all.

The coffins will be temporarily kept at the Cantonese Cemetery, Sinza Road.

In view of the importance with which the case is regarded by local merchants, the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, Mr. C. F. Hsu, will retain an attorney to hold a watching brief when the trial is begun.

Contributions for the families of the two victims are being received by Loh Wen-tsoong, president of the Szechuen Road Street Union.

Lord Milner Pays Tribute To Rhodes

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 12.—Presiding at the annual dinner of the Rhodes Scholarship Trust at Oxford last night, Lord Milner paid an eloquent tribute to the late Mr. Rhodes, emphasising that two objects that were dear to Rhodes all through his life were the unity of the British Empire, and an indissoluble friendship between Great Britain and America.

In the course of these remarks, his lordship said he was certain Rhodes believed profoundly that the existence in all parts of the Empire and the United States of a large body of men of similar training and traditions would do more than anything else to strengthen and maintain the moral unity of the English-speaking world, so that it would for ever stand together, as it did during the war, for the defense of their common civilisation, and would for ever settle their differences as family differences, by peaceful means and in a fraternal spirit.

Mr. Leopold Amery, who was Parliamentary Under-Secretary for the Colonies while Lord Milner was Colonial Secretary, but is now Parliamentary Financial Secretary to the Admiralty, dealt with Imperial questions in a subsequent speech. He emphasised the immense difficulty of the task of enabling a group of free self-governing communities to reach a common policy, and suggested that possibly, in future, these independent communities might be synchronised in action, not by major votes or a direct federal constitution, but by unity of thought and ideal.

General Smuts, who followed, said Rhodes wanted to bring together not only the peoples of the British Empire but of America—the oldest and first British Dominion, whom they were always proud and grateful to claim as one of themselves. "We feel in our hearts," he said, "that America is one of us; and whenever in future we come to difficult corners—whenever human destiny is really at stake in the future—we feel America will be with us, and will stand with us." (Cheers).

THROUGH TRAFFIC ON TRANSBAIKAL AND C. E. LIKELY

Agreement Probably Will Hold, Despite Recent Political Upsets

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Harbin, June 12.—Although recent events in the Maritime Province have greatly changed the situation it is believed that the railway agreement (for the reopening of through railway traffic between Siberia and Manchuria) reached at the joint meeting of representatives of the Chinese Eastern and Transbaikal Railways at Manchouli in March will still hold good.

It is also considered quite possible that a similar agreement will be made with the Ussuri railway and that through-traffic between Chita and Vladivostok will be provided for.

The former Manager of the Ussuri Railway, M. Kalina, is now in Harbin. It is rumored that he will be offered a post in the Administration of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The Chinese Military authorities at Manchuli and Hailar have received strict orders to take all possible measures to prevent Ungern from getting his supplies from Manchuria. These orders are in pursuance of the Chinese Government's firm decision to put an end to Ungern's movement.

BANKERS IN U.S. TRYING TO HELP COTTON MARKET

Germany's Surrender On Reparations Is Good Factor

(Reuter's Service)

New York, May 14 (by mail).—A great deal of interest is manifested in the efforts of the War Finance Corporation to find some means of relieving the South of its burden of cotton by shipping some of the surplus abroad. It was the opinion of bankers who attended the conferences that while they had by no means solved the problem, progress had been made towards moving the dormant crop of 1920, most of which is held in warehouses and sheds. One official, in describing the conferences, said: "The main idea at the present time is to re-establish confidence. This must extend from the man who grows the cotton up through the dealer who buys it, to the exporters and the purchaser abroad. This confidence we hope to instil into the cotton dealers, partly by actual advances on the staple and partly by the knowledge that they can get advances if they want them. New York bankers have assured us of their co-operation. Officials of the Edge Law banks are heartily with us, and we believe that this movement will bring more stability to the market and start cotton moving."

It is said that already three or four advances have been made on cotton, one of them for $2,000,000 and the others small. Germany's surrender to the Allied reparation terms and the recent buoyancy of foreign exchange has still further strengthened the export situation, although thus far the market has not experienced any material advance in consequence of these conditions probably because of the paralysis of trade in England owing to the coal strike, and because of a desire on the part of the speculative public to see just how much cotton Europe can absorb if arrangements are made to ship it. Naturally it would be poor business to import a lot of raw cotton if there will be a poor demand for the manufactured goods, which seems to be the complaint from abroad at present. For this reason, and until the new crop develops a more definite trend one way or the other, the market is expected to hang fire and rule fairly steady.

Alliance Reported Between Sun Yat-sen And Soviet Russia

A definite alliance between the Moscow Government and Dr. Sun Yat-sen, president of the Canton Republic, has been formed, according to official despatches received by the local Chinese bureaus from the Cabinet. According to the messages, the Moscow Government has furnished two ship loads of munition to Sun and money for the recruiting of 20,000 natives from Heilungkiang to be sent to East Kwangtung.

The local authorities were warned by the Cabinet to be on the alert and check any Bolshevik propaganda and arrest any recruits for the South. A searching vigilance will be directed against the vessels arriving in port.

American Lawyer Joins U.S. Bar Here

John W. Schoenfeld, a lawyer, member of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, and also of the Federal Court of that state was admitted to practice in China at yesterday afternoon's session of the United States Court for China.

Mr. Sterling Fessenden offered Mr. Schoenfeld's name. The applicant for admission, he said, came to Shanghai to join the firm of Ross and Lawrence, which is associated with the firm of Fessenden and Holcomb.

The oath was administered by Judge C. S. Lobingier, who extended Mr. Schoenfeld a welcome on behalf of the local Bar Association.

Plague Outbreak In Manchuria Ends

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Harbin, June 12.—As the plague outbreak in Manchuria has come to an end, all the quarantine stations have been closed with the exception of that at Pogranichnaia, where it is necessary to continue the inspection of passengers owing to the fact that the plague epidemic is still developing in the Maritime Province.
